Maryland PSC Announces Appointment of John Borkoski as Chief Engineer

(BALTIMORE, MD-June 26, 2017)–The Maryland Public Service Commission (PSC) announces that John Borkoski has been appointed Chief Engineer and Director of Emergency Management for the agency. Borkoski is a retired senior executive of Baltimore Gas & Electric Company with 35 years of electric and gas utility experience.

Borkoski earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Northeastern University in Boston, Massachusetts. He also earned a master's degree in engineering from the George Washington University. Borkoski is also a Registered Professional Engineer in Maryland and a senior member of the IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers). He is a resident of Havre de Grace, Maryland.

The PSC's Engineering Division monitors the operations of utilities for safety, efficiency, reliability and quality of service. The Chief Engineer is also the liaison to the Maryland Emergency Management Agency and participates in emergency preparedness and response efforts.
